

William B. Harris is appointed Chairman of the Board

William B. Harris, just turned 41, whose life has been closely linked to University of Toronto before and since his appointment as a Governor, is the University's new Chairman of the Board. The appointment was announced by University Affairs Minister John White August 5.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Harris enrolled in Upper Canada College and then University of Toronto (B.A., Trinity College '53). His M.A. came two years later (Christ Church College, Oxford). An investment dealer, he has been president of Harris & Partners, Ltd., since 1966. He and his wife, the former M. Patricia Smith, also Trinity '53, have a son and three daughters.

At University of Toronto, Mr. Harris' appointments have included: member of the Corporation of Trinity College, an Associate of Innis College, membership on the Board of Directors of Varsity Fund. His outside interests include the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and the Ontario Waterfowl Research Foundation, for each of which he is a director, and the Nature Conservancy of Canada. He is an outdoor man, and slips away to his farm when opportunity offers.

First appointed to the Board of Governors in June, 1968, Mr. Harris succeeded Wallace McCutcheon as one of the Board's two non-voting members on the Commission on University Government early the next year. In February, 1970, the Governors elected him their Vice-Chairman. In June, 1970, when the University-Wide Committee was formed, the Board declined an invitation to elect representatives; however, Mr. Harris was an observer at most of the sessions.

Mr. Harris' baptism of fire in the chairmanship came during the month of July when, following the resignation of O. D. Vaughan, he was Acting Chairman. Two developments monopolized his time: the progress of Bill 80 (The University of Toronto Act, 1971) through committee and third reading in the Legislature, and the presence on campus of transient tenters who arrived in defiance of a University ruling and who stayed in defiance of a high court order to depart.

On the morning of Monday, July 12, he chaired a special meeting of the Board called to consider an amendment that the Legislative Standing Committee had before it for the U of T Act. A few hours later he was before the committee reading the Board's rebuttal — only the second statement issued by the Board in its history (Bulletin of July 19). An hour after that he was supporting Dr. J. H. Sword, the Acting President, in negotiations about the transient tenters at another level of government. Throughout the "tent city" tensions, Dr. Sword's decisions were made following consultation with his senior colleagues and had the solid support of Mr. Harris.

Change parking regulations on Front Campus Sept 7

The Bulletin has received the following communication concerning changes in parking regulations from the Office of the Executive Vice-President (Non-Academic):

To correct a hazardous situation and to relieve traffic and pedestrian flow on the front campus, certain changes in parking regulations are announced, effective September 7. In brief, parking will be discontinued on the inner circumference of King's College Circle, most of the outer circumference of Hart House Circle, and on the hazardous portion of Galbraith Road south of Convocation Hall.

The introduction of these regulations will eliminate about 110 parking spaces for non-reserved permit holders. It should be mentioned, however, that several new and enlarged parking areas have been created during the past year, notably on the east side of St. George Street above Hoskin Avenue, and off Devonshire Place. [A revised map showing supervised parking areas is reproduced right.]

A. G. Rankin, the Executive Vice-President (Non-Academic), offered the following comments: "Bumper-to-bumper parking on both sides of the roadways of the front campus has produced a congestion which impedes the flow of pedestrians and service vehicles. The double parking creates a safety hazard — in the event of a serious accident or a fire, it would be most difficult to manoeuvre Fire Department equipment and other service vehicles, particularly during the winter months. In addition, the unsightly spectacle of large numbers of parked cars on the front campus roadways detracts from the appearance of the campus.

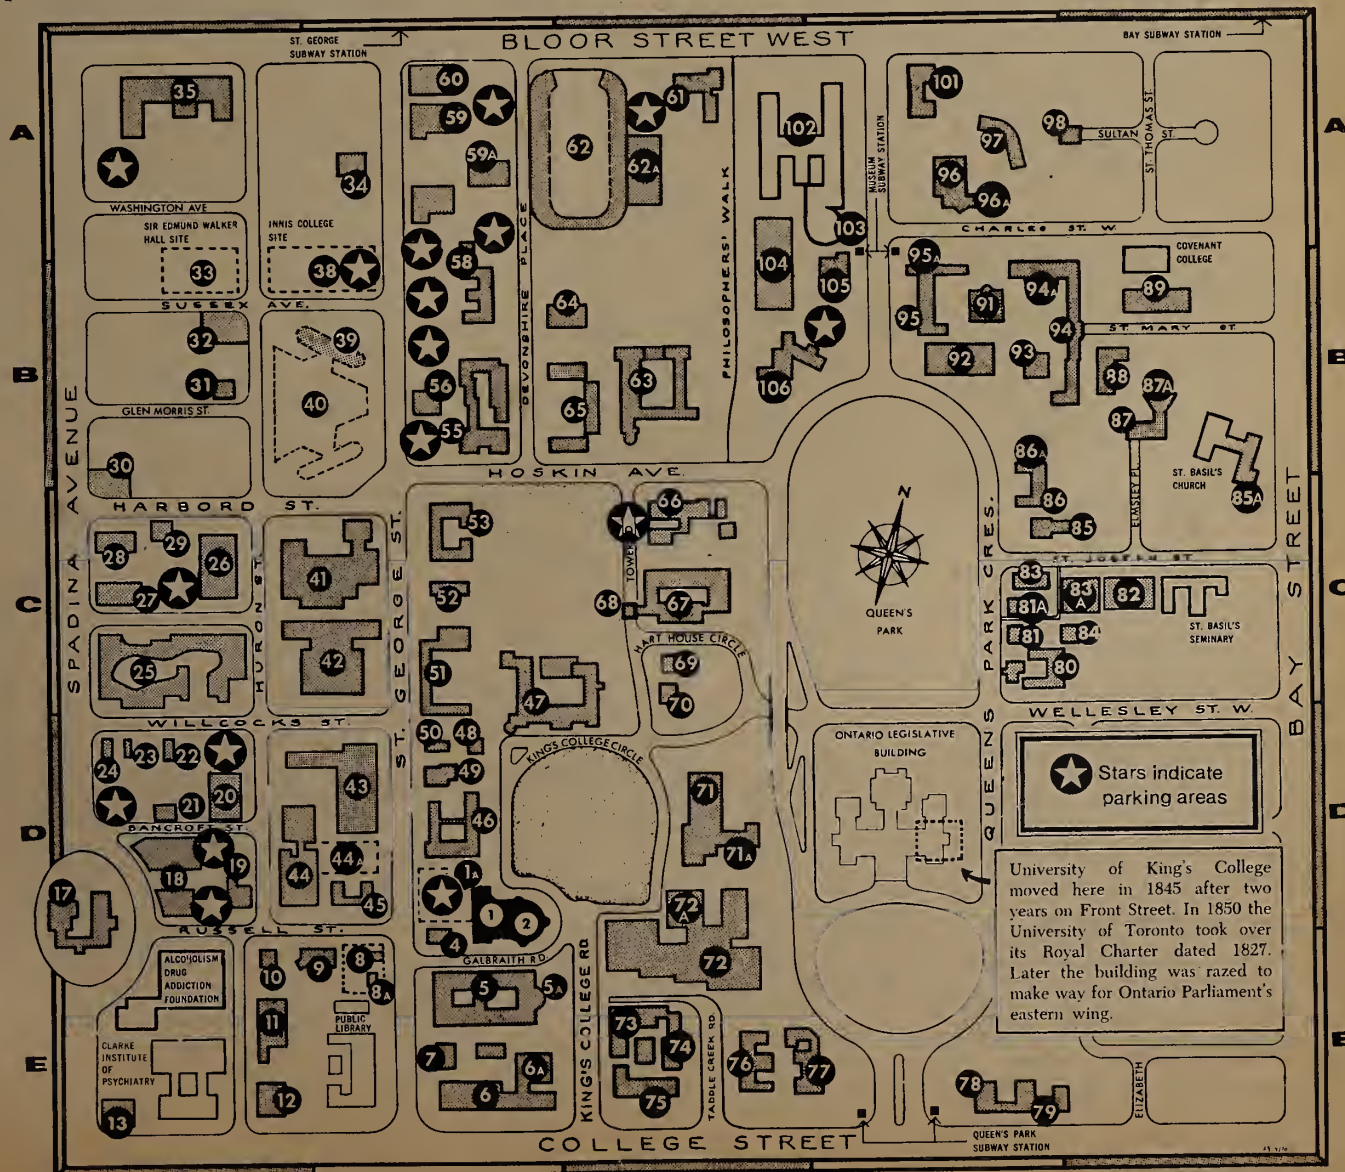

"There is a growing conflict between pedestrian and vehicular traffic which, on campus, must be resolved in favour of the pedestrian. We are endeavouring to improve pedestrian traffic arteries throughout the entire campus. This Summer, many pedestrian paths have been resurfaced and widened. The ideal solution is to provide parking garages and to close the front campus to all except essential service vehicles. A major garage could be built under the front campus but for the fact that the entire cost, both capital and operating, of such a garage, would have to be met from charges to the space users since Government policy precludes the use of provincial monies for parking garages. There are insufficient number of car owners who, at this time, are prepared to pay the parking rate which would be required for such an underground garage. But this day must come.

"While the inconvenience to staff members who normally used the now prohibited areas is recognized and sincerely regretted, it is believed that the reduction in congestion is essential from a fire and safety standpoint. The aesthetic improvement to the area will be an important benefit."

English scholar John M. Robson is Principal of Victoria College

Dr. John M. Robson, professor of English at Victoria College since 1958, was appointed Principal of the College on July 1. The eleventh head of Victoria since its incorporation at Cobourg in 1841, Principal Robson succeeds Dr. John E. Hodgetts, President of Victoria University, who was Acting Principal in the past year.

Born in Toronto, John Robson received his Ph.D. from the University of Toronto in 1956. He taught at University College, the University of British Columbia and the University of Alberta before joining the English department at Victoria 13 years ago.

A specialist in 19th century literature, Principal Robson is the general editor of The Collected Works of John Stuart Mill and includes among his many publications The Improvement of Mankind: The Social and Political Thought of J. S. Mill, and The Humnn Retort, a satirical look at the city and the university. He is an executive member of several professional organizations and has held research fellowships from the Royal Society of Canada, the Humanities Research Council, the Canada Council, and the Guggenheim Foundation.

Principal Robson as well has taken part in educational planning and discussions at all levels and has participated in television and radio programs and contributed frequent columns, articles and reviews, serious and humorous, to Toronto newspapers.

His wife, the former Ann Wilkinson, is assistant professor of history at U of T. They have two boys and a girl, one of whom, William, 11, wrote a three-part adventure story, The Earth II Trilogy, published by the New Press last year.

The Department of Bacteriology is renamed Medical Microbiology

Summary of the Senate minutes, June 7, 1971:

R. W. Cox is Visiting Professor of International Security Studies

Robert W. Cox, who has had a long and outstanding career in international organizations and who since 1965 has been director of the International Institute of Labour Studies at Geneva, has been appointed Visiting Professor of International Security Studies for the 1971-72 academic year.

Mr. Cox will lead seminars and lecture on the contribution to international security which has been and can be further made by the United Nations and other major international organizations. He will lead interdisciplinary seminars on "Problems of Transnational Society" for graduate students and on "International Organization and Political Development" for graduate and senior undergraduate students.

Thus Mr. Cox will reinforce the interdisciplinary group of scholars at U of T who are working on the role of international organizations in the promotion of peace. Mr. Cox, whose appointment was arranged by the International Studies Program and its international relations committee (the chairman of which is Prof. Harold Nelson, Department of History), will be attached to the Department of Political Economy for the period of his appointment.

A graduate in history of McGill University in 1948, Robert W. Cox has maintained his academic interests throughout his career. He was visiting professor at the Graduate Institute of International Studies, Geneva, in 1963-64 and has held a partial appointment there since then. His teaching and research have related to such subjects as decision-making in international organizations and their contribution to political development. He has written extensively for international journals in English and French.

Council of 35 and executive of 8 named for Faculty Association

The University of Toronto Faculty Association, formerly the Association of the Teaching Staff, came into being on July 1 with an executive committee of eight and a council of 35 members, including the executive.

The purpose of the new association, as described in its constitution, "is to promote the welfare of the University of Toronto and its faculty, and to co-operate as a member association of the Canadian Association of University Teachers and the Ontario Confederation of University Faculty Associations in advancing the interests of teachers and researchers in Canadian universities and colleges."

Membership is open to all full-time members of the faculty of the University and affiliated institutions. Other members of the faculty may be admitted to membership by the council upon application.

Policies of the Association are to be carried out under the direction of the council, which is elected on a constituency basis. Members are to serve three year terms, approximately one-third of them to take office on July 1 each year. The more detailed running of the Association is the responsibility of the executive committee, chosen annually by the council, with the exception of the president, who is to be elected annually in a preferential mail ballot from among nominations made by members of the council. The immediate past president is ex officio a member of the executive and the council. For 1971-72, he is the chairman of the 1970-71 Association of the Teaching Staff.

There are three standing committees of council: salary and benefits, which this year, in addition to its annual review of salaries, will give special study to improvements in the pension and insurance scheme and the sabbatical leave policy; University government, which at this time is concerned with the forthcoming new University of Toronto Act, and grievances.

The annual general meeting is to be held as soon after March 25 each year as deemed convenient by council. The president calls other meetings of the association as directed by the annual general meeting, the council, the executive, or at the written request of at least 50 members.

The first executive committee of the Faculty Association consists of: President, Prof. James B. Conacher; vice-president, Prof. S. M. Uzumeri, Applied Science and Engineering; secretary, Prof. J. S. Wood, Victoria; treasurer, Prof. P. L. Mathews, New College; past president, Prof. R. W. Missen; chairman, salary and benefits committee, Prof. M. G. Finlayson; chairman, University government committee, Prof. R. M. H. Shepherd; chairman, grievances committee, Prof. D. Mendes da Costa.

The council, in addition to the members of the executive, consists of: Profs. J. J. Balatinez, Forestry; R. J. K. Barker, Architecture; D. F. Bellamy, Social Work; M. E. Berridge, Physical and Health Education; H. E. Bett, Connaught Laboratories; Olga Bishop, Library Science; B. F. Brown, St. Michael's; M. Brownstone, Arts and Science; A. C. Coman, College of Education; Paul Corey, Hygiene; J. E. Dove, Arts and Science; E. P. Downton, Dentistry; Blanche Duncanson, Nursing; M. H. Freedman, Pharmacy; L. T. Gardner, Arts and Science; W. J. Kirkness, Scarborough; Arthur Kruger, Arts and Science; A. D. Latta, Trinity; M. Leitch, Food Sciences; T. O. Lloyd, Arts and Science; M. R. Piggott, Applied Science and Engineering; A. E. Samuel, University College; Ezra Schabas, Music; Stanley Schiff, Law; L. W. Sumner, Arts and Science; G. R. Thaler, Erindale; and G. R. Williams, Medicine.

The Association maintains an office on campus, at 455 Spadina Ave. (at College St.), Suite 302, which members of the faculty may visit or telephone (928-3351) for further information. The office secretary there is Mrs. G. Sandquist.

Dr Lautenschläger retires as Principal of Emmanuel

The Rev. Earl S. Lautenschläger, who graduated from Victoria College in 1931 and from Emmanuel College in 1935, has retired as Principal of Emmanuel after eight years in that position. Dr. Lautenschläger was the first graduate of Emmanuel to be its Principal, a post he took after more than 20 years in pastoral work and service as a chaplain with the RCAF in World War II. A successor has not yet been appointed.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowships '72-73 competition is suspended

The 1971-72 competition for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation's First Year Fellowships to be held in 1972-73 will not take place.

"Board of Trustees," Dr. H. Ronald Rouse, director of the Foundation said, "believe that the prospects of securing funds for the support of a significant number of first-year graduate students in 1972-73 are too uncertain to warrant holding a competition."

Dr. Rouse pointed out, however, that the 305 winners of the last competition would be supported in the graduate schools of their choice during the academic year 1971-72. He said that the Foundation would use the period of temporary suspension to design a new program for fellowships to be held in 1973-74.

"We are studying recent developments in graduate education," he said. "We will be conferring with representatives of the academic world in order to establish a program of graduate fellowships which takes account of manpower needs in the 1970's. Since U.S. federal aid to first-year graduate students has been drastically curtailed, a privately funded program is urgently needed."

Five Wilson Foundation programs will be continued in 1971-72: Dissertation Fellowships, Teaching and Administrative Internships, Graduate Service for Black Veterans of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Fellowships, and the National Humanities Series.

Dr Moore President Emeritus

The Board of Regents of Victoria University has named the Very Rev. A. B. B. Moore President Emeritus. Dr. Moore, who earlier this year was elected Moderator of the United Church of Canada, retired from Victoria in 1970 after having served as President and Vice-Chancellor for 20 years.

PROF. J. L. FARRAR addressed a seminar at the Forest Products Laboratory, Ottawa, on the topic "Development of Xylem in Trees as Influenced by Drought and Frost", April 21.

Music

DR. ARNOLD WALTER's book Aspects of Music in Canada has been chosen one of the "Outstanding Academic Books" by Choice magazine, which is a publication of the Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association. Dr. Walter was presented with the Award of Merit of the Corporation of the City of Toronto for "distinguished public services".

PROF. JOHN WEINZWEIG presented a lecture-demonstration and seminar of his recent compositions at Mt. Allison University on March 8 and 9. During April Prof. John Weinzweig's Divertimento No. 1 for Flute and Strings was performed by the Quebec Symphony, Toronto Symphony and the National Arts Centre Orchestra; String Quartet No. 3 was performed by the Orford String Quartet in St. James Cathedral in Toronto; the CBC program "Music of To-day" featured his recent compositions; his Violin

Only APUS president and 2 vice-presidents are to speak on policy

The following announcement was issued by Don Cotton, vice-president of the Association of Part-time Undergraduate Students:

At a meeting held recently the executive of the Association of Part-time Undergraduate Students decided that the University community should be informed that normally only the president, Mrs. Norma Grindal, or the two vice-presidents, Kurt Loeb and Don Cotton, will issue statements reflecting on APUS executive policy.

The reason for this decision was based on concern felt by the executive for recent matters in which reports were issued that linked the part-time student association to causes that they had not supported.

While any part-time student is free to express his or her views on any topic, only current executive members are directly responsible to the student association.

It should be noted that the past-president of APUS is not an ex officio member of the executive.

The executive consists of 12 members: President, two vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer and seven other directors. All are elected from the part-time student assembly.

Staff Openings at U of T

Government research scientist V. J. Nordin is Dean of Forestry

Dr. Vidar John Nordin, research manager in the Program Directorate of the Canadian Forestry Service, Department of Environment, Ottawa, has been appointed Dean of the Faculty of Forestry, succeeding Dr. J. W. B. Sisam, who has retired. Dr. Nordin will take up his new post in mid-September.

Born in 1924, Dr. Nordin received a B.A. in botany, with honours, at the University of British Columbia in 1946, and a year later the degree of B.Sc.F. at UBC. In 1951 he graduated from the University of Toronto with his Ph.D. in forest pathology and forest mensuration.

After graduation from UBC, Dr. Nordin was forest research scientist with the federal Department of Agriculture in Ontario, then was officer-in-charge of the Regional Forest Pathology Laboratory, first at Fredericton, N.B. (where he also lectured at the University of New Brunswick), and later at Calgary. In 1958 Dr. Nordin was appointed Associate Chief of the Forest Biology Division at Ottawa, where he was responsible for directing programs of forest disease surveys and research throughout Canada in collaboration with resource agencies and universities. He was promoted to the position of Associate Director of the Forest Entomology and Pathology Branch in 1960, and in 1965 assumed his latest position.

In 1968-69 Dr. Nordin spent a year in Quebec City, representing his department on a special federal government bilingual and bicultural program. While there he was associated with Laval's

Faculty of Forestry, gave special lectures, took part in seminars, and was an outside examiner on graduate thesis committees to the Ph.D. level.

Dr. Nordin is a past president of the Canadian Institute of Forestry and a member of nearly a dozen other professional associations. He is a Registered Professional Forester (Ontario). Since 1949 he has contributed extensively to scholarly and other professional journals and is chairman of a Canadian Institute of Forestry committee making an extensive study of forestry education in Canada, which is to be published in a few months' time.

Appeals fail but ways are found to start new graduate programs

Summary of the Minutes, Council of the School of Graduate Studies, June 15, 1971:

Business rising from the minutes

The chairman, Acting Dean Baines, reported that the change of status of the Environmental Sciences and Engineering Program has been approved by the Senate.

Report of the Dean

Enrolment figures. Dean Baines reported a lowering in the rate of receipt of applications to the School of Graduate Studies, and said the present total was 7,900, which was below the figure at this stage last year.

New programs. Dean Baines said that the Academic Planning Committee of OCGS had not upheld the appeal of the University against the decision not to recommend support for the proposed new programs in Library Science and Criminology. However, the Board of Governors had decided to allow students to register in the two programs. Criminology would be funded initially by a private Foundation, and the necessary facilities and staff were already available for Library Science to accept enrolment of a very small number of students.

Appraisals. Dean Baines referred to the revised structure of the OCGS Appraisals Committee and said that for the next two years Prof. G. M. Wickens of the Department of Islamic Studies would be a member.

University of Toronto Act. Dean Baines referred to the new Act and, in outlining some of its provisions, said that under the new Act the powers and responsibilities of the Graduate Council would remain substantially the same.

Reports of the Associate Deans

Division IV. On the proposal of Associate Dean Butler, seconded by Miss Sweaney, Council gave permission for an M.D. student in medical biophysics to be allowed to study concurrently for an M.Sc. degree, the circumstances being considered special.

Senate representations

The Chairman reported that two replacements were necessary in the School's list of alternates for the final year of the quadrennium 1968-72.

On the proposal of Associate Dean Parker, seconded by Prof. Dakin, the following members were nominated as alternates: Prof. L. Zakuta, to replace Prof. R. C. Pratt who will be on leave; S. Kogitz (President, G.S.U.) to replace Peter Brigg who received his Ph.D. this year and therefore will not be enrolled in the School.

Reporting of Grades

At Council's request, the four Associate Deans and the Secretary of the School had prepared a set of regulations relating to the reporting of grades, these being regarded as an interim measure pending the introduction of a new system in student records in the University. It was proposed by Miss Sweaney, seconded by Associate Dean Sawyer, and agreed that Council accept the regulations.

Course Numbering

Assistant Dean Sherck outlined for Council a new system of course numbering which he was preparing at present and about which he would be in touch with the graduate departments in the near future.

Other Business

Associate Dean Hume expressed to Acting Dean W. Douglas Baines the Council's gratitude for the enthusiasm with which he had undertaken his post as Acting Dean and the efficiency with which he had held it.

Royal Conservatory's Exhibition recitals

The annual Exhibition recitals, organized by the Royal Conservatory of Music under the sponsorship of the Canadian National Exhibition and with the kind permission of the Toronto Musicians' Association, began on Aug. 20, the second evening of the CNE, and continue throughout the Exhibition (with the exception of Sunday, Aug. 23) from 6 to 6.30 p.m. in the West Auditorium of the Music Building.

The performers are students, recent graduates and teachers at the Royal Conservatory of Music and the Faculty of Music.
